MAY REVOLUTIONIZE STOVE INDUS-TRY .- Stove men of Albany and Troy, N. Y., are discussing an invention which they say will be as revolutionary as that of the sewing machine. The inventor is E. R. Cahoon, of Troy, and the invention that of a firebox burns soft coal without smoke. They believe Caboon has at last solved the problem of perfect combustion in the burning of bitum nous coal. In his stove all the carbonaceous gases are consumed which hitherto have escaped through the chimney flues in the shape of dense smoke.
